

FINANCIAL DEVELOPMENT REVIEW COMMITTEE HOLDS 1ST SPECIAL COMMITTEE MEETING ON YOUNG ADULTS

The FSC announced that the financial development review committee launched an eighteen-member special committee on young adults made up of members in the age of twenties and thirties representing diverse areas of professions on May 13.

At its kick-off meeting, the special committee on young adults held discussions on the issue of 'housing finance and the housing ladder.' During his keynote address, FSC Chairman Eun Sung-soo spoke about the importance of maintaining close communication with young adults as the level of interest shown by young adults recently on financial markets and policies have grown significantly. As such, Chairman Eun pledged that the FSC will continue to listen closely to the needs of young adults to help improve conditions and minimize disadvantages for them.

Throughout the year, the special committee will hold meetings and have discussions on a range of topics that are of concern to young adults, such as creating fairer conditions for stock investment, challenges of young adults as startup entrepreneurs, the electronic payment system and so on.
